Making a difference

ONE CHILD AT A TIME

We are living in exceptional times, and remote learning has become more important than ever. When teachers are visiting now in your living room in online meetings and giving classes online, we all know the importance of co-operation and communication with teachers.

A child's learning knows no borders; it continues any place the child goes. That's why no matter how teaching is organized, you need to be aware of your child's discoveries and progress; you want to stay in sync. This way, you can engage your child in purposeful activities and support his/her development. What you wish to certainly is that your child has the best possible learning experiences in this situation, right?

We wish so, too. We aim at that. And we have figured out how to support the teachers with the right technology to do their job the best way possible.

FINNISH EDUCATION

Recently Finland has been claimed to have the world's happiest people and the best education system. The secret of the Finnish success lies in the child-initiated approach to teaching from early years to higher education.

What it means is that throughout the entire education journey of each child here in Finland, the teacher and the parents' job is to uncover the individual potential and nurture the talents.

Such a big responsibility asks for a lot of attention and effort from the teacher, parents, and the school administration. This is where we come in. We make it easier for both you and your child's teacher to communicate daily, see the up-to-date personal information about your child, and keep track of competence development.
